

One employer, many great opportunities

Nursing and Midwifery Opportunities

Combine an enticing lifestyle with challenging and rewarding careers on our beautiful island state. Tasmania's Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) is one of the state's largest employers providing a diverse range of health and human services to the Tasmanian community. We are always seeking the best people and offer health professionals a broad range of opportunities in acute and community services in urban, rural and remote island settings.

We are dedicated to providing the highest standards of healthcare, fostering a commitment to best practice, and continuous improvement and research. We have a great health system and are committed to making it better through enhanced technology, exciting new facilities, innovation and most importantly our people. With over 12 000 employees and more than 350 sites there is something to interest everyone.

We value our supportive and positive team environment and offer strong professional and social networks, good opportunities for professional development and career advancement, and close links to the University of Tasmania which include conjoint appointments and active post-graduate education programs.

We have many opportunities and detailed information available on our careers website and you can visit www.jobs.tas.gov.au for regular vacancy updates.

Unbeatable lifestyle

We have it all – relaxing lifestyle, rewarding careers, modern facilities and pristine wilderness and beaches on your doorstep.

Tasmania offers the ideal work/life balance and stress-free lifestyle for you and your family. We have it all from dramatic scenery and exciting outdoor pursuits to welcoming communities with all the services, entertainment options and facilities needed to make a safe and peaceful home.

Working in Hobart offers the unique combination of all the facilities and attractions of a modern capital city, a laid back lifestyle and natural beauty such as spectacular rivers, coastal reserves, pristine old growth forests and majestic mountain ranges at your doorstep. It is renowned for its fine dining, heritage buildings, beautiful parks, the Salamanca Market and its festivals. Hobart's affordable housing, quality education system and stress-free

Southern Tasmania Area Health Service

Joining our team at the Tasmanian Department of Health and Human Services provides you with the opportunity to advance your career while enjoying the ultimate balance of work, rest and play.

The Southern Tasmania Area Health Service incorporates the Royal Hobart Hospital which is the major teaching hospital in Tasmania and is the tertiary referral centre for the State. This means that we cater for a very diverse range of patient groups, and offer excellent opportunities to develop the breadth of skills that neither major city nor rural hospitals may be able to provide.

As we attract a range of staff from across Australia and overseas, we offer a welcoming and supportive environment that values the dynamic exchange of ideas with a strong emphasis on a work/life balance. In other words, it's a place where you can enjoy the best of both worlds – a challenging and rewarding career and the lifestyle you crave.

Our affiliation with the University of Tasmania (UTAS) School of Nursing and Midwifery through the Practice Development Unit – Nursing and Midwifery, provides exceptional opportunities for nurses and midwives in STAHS to maintain links with the university – through postgraduate studies, research and contributing as honorary clinical titleholders. The quality of the professional experience offered to undergraduates and trainee enrolled nurses in RHH and the community enhances our reputation as a teaching institution.

We are always seeking the best people. We have opportunities for nursing professional to join our team in:
